The Opportunity: Senior Incident Response Analyst

About you:

We are looking for skilled technologists who are also idea people, ready for the rigors and rewards of a startup.

About us:

Fast Orientation allows organizations to explore and respond to IT events in real time, helping people make informed and timely decisions about security and enterprise operations with confidence. By promoting continuous awareness, our software helps companies improve operational health and enterprise security in a powerful and innovative way.

Founded in 2014, Fast Orientation was launched by a team of security industry veterans frustrated with the current state of enterprise security and deficiencies in existing security platforms. Building on the success of their past consulting and product experience, the team has built a product that promotes a strong operational security posture and permits immediate identification, response, and resolution of threats and failures—allowing companies to develop a natural intuition about their IT environment and reducing the need for unplanned, reactive, and expensive consulting engagements.

What we need:

We are looking for someone with experience in pursuing and resolving security incidents. The right candidate will have expert skills and experience using the tools and techniques of forensic investigation. We need a security expert who is comfortable interacting with organizations as security incidents are investigated and resolved, and who has an intuitive instinct for identifying operational anomalies. We want an innovator who is driven to leverage his or her experience into durable security solutions for our users and their organizations, and who is always trying to find ways to do so more efficiently.

Huge Pluses:

- Experience analyzing security incidents and performing root cause analysis
- Proven understanding of operating systems (Windows, OS X, and Linux), network architectures, and security infrastructures
- Comfort documenting and communicating security incidents, with exemplary interpersonal skills
- Acute awareness of attack vectors, threat tactics, and attack techniques, and the ability to respond to threats with strategic insight

Are you ready for a fast paced startup?

- You are comfortable with a rapidly growing team
- You want to join a team of innovators with a passion for fresh solutions
- You are looking for a launching pad or accelerant for your career, not a resting place
- You want to work with positive people who enjoy and take pride in their work
- You want to help us make a product that our customers will enjoy using and that will make their lives easier

Are you ready to make an impact?

- You are a self-starter who isn't waiting for the next task to arrive and who can take ownership
- You produce superior work on schedule
- You quickly adapt and can recommend new technology and ideas where suitable
